Goals

What we plan to accomplish

Here is a list of things, we wish to make happen -

- Encourage prospective contributors into communication with existing contributors
- Provide self-contained and well-documented issues for newbies to get their feet wet
- Guide and help prospective contributors to turn them into successful ones
- To establish better mentor-mentee relationships among existing and prospective contributors
- Provide for a comfortable communication channel to the prospective contributors

A journey of a thousand miles

How do you get started with contributing to us?

FAS account

The Fedora Account System keeps track of Fedora Project contributors and the projects they work on. It is used to grant authentication and authorization to various components

WELCOME ticket

When a new person joins the Fedora community, they may or may not immediately know what they want to do. If they don't, the Join SIG aims to help to them explore the community and find a part that suits their interests. This ticketing project is for new members looking to find their way in the community.

Begins with a single step

How do you get started with contributing to us?

When a new contributor gets in touch with the Join SIG, we go through the following steps together -

- The new contributors get to introduce themselves to the community, subscribe to the Join mailing list and added to the Join Pagure group.
- We let you loose in the vibrant world of Fedora to check out the awesome subprojects and SIGs we have and to contribute to them.
- From time-to-time we check progresses that our prospective contributors are making. You can always come back if you give up at some time.
- Now that our prospective contributor has joined a team, they have become a valuable member of the community. Time to celebrate!
